Chinese Telecaster Serial Numbers

Fender Custom Shop has produced a series of Signature Telecaster Guitars in its Custom Artist series, handmade to the personal preferences of famous phone players like Merle Haggard.. Art music and self-expression in a manor house match the growth and quality of Western achievement and leadership..) The next six digits are the device label A few Telecasters have appeared with Neck codes showing a date and one with a possible date while the rest of the guitar appears to be from Therefore, although it is useful to establish a series of production dates, a period of time is obviously not a exact final reference.. In the following we will discuss the different serial numbers used by Fender back in 1950.. The first two digits of the number indicate the year of production (for 20, 11 for 2011, etc.

The Guitar Theater project is simply misleading, when leaving their website looks like an official, supported by Gibson instead what it is not.. That Marauder has something to hear; The only thing is my wife believes that if we continue to buy Chinese products, we will bankrupt the United States.. The bass show has precision and jazz bass (including fretless versions of both), Jaguars and Telecasters, and five and short models.. One of the steps Fender took to get it right was to use a factory other than Sunnene.
